

2ND SHORT-TERM FUNDING MARKETS CONFERENCE
CALL FOR PAPERS

Authors are invited to submit research papers to the 2nd Short-Term Funding Markets Conference, co-organized by the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, the University of Maryland's Center for Financial Policy, and the University of Delaware's Finance Department.

Date: March 29, 2019

Location: Washington, DC

Paper Submission Deadline: December 8, 2018

Details: The goal of the conference is to bring together academics and policymakers to discuss research in short-term funding markets, very broadly defined. Relevant topics include, but are not limited to:

- Participants in short-term funding markets: money market mutual funds, broker-dealers, security lenders, and other financial intermediaries (including banks)
- Key short-term funding markets: commercial paper, repurchase agreements (repos), etc.
- Shadow banking
- Maturity and liquidity transformation
- Money creation and the demand for safe assets
- Effects of regulations on short-term funding markets

Last Year's Program: We had a successful inaugural conference, with papers on a variety of topics. For the detailed program, please see: https://www.rhsmith.umd.edu/files/Documents/Centers/CFP/preliminary_program.pdf

Paper Submission Procedure: The deadline for submissions is December 8, 2018. Please submit completed papers in PDF format without any author information using the form at <http://www.cvent.com/d/pbqxqj>. Papers can be uploaded after clicking the Register link and filling in contact information.

There is no submission fee. Authors of selected papers will be notified by mid-February. The conference will partially subsidize reasonable travel and lodging expenses for presenters.

Conference Organizers: Jack Bao (University of Delaware), Yi Li (Federal Reserve Board), and Russell Wermers (University of Maryland)

Program Committee: Sergey Chernenko (Purdue), Matthias Fleckenstein (University of Delaware), Emily Gallagher (University of Colorado), Itay Goldstein (Wharton), Gary Gorton (Yale), Wei Jiang (Columbia), Marco Macchiavelli (Federal Reserve Board), Claudia Moise (University of Maryland), Lawrence Schmidt (MIT Sloan), Philipp Schnabl (NYU), Andre Silva (Federal Reserve Board), Allan Timmermann (UCSD), and Francesca Zucchi (Federal Reserve Board)